THE TALE OF THE ARAB FLIGHT CREW

This thread discusses the Content article: THE TALE OF THE ARAB FLIGHT CREW

This definitely beats the Mercedes sports car test drive by Breznjev on the Mercedes factory circuit. Ignition, start, wall crash at 30 feet. Total loss. Mercedes sent the new car afterwards.

Do you know the nationality of the crew? If they are Abu Dhabi nationals it would have been predictable. The tales are endless and they are all true.

This illustrative of Islam's ass-backwards culture. They have the unearned cash to buy technology but they have neither the technical training nor common sense to use it properly. I'm waiting to hear about Iran's own Chernobyl.

My sister saw a fire in Jeddah. The firemen arrived wearing their brand new silver fire-retardent suits.....with the feet cut out, wearing sandals.

You want some more of this:

- 2 Saudi F-15 fly in North Saudi air space and their Friend or Foe Identification device warns of a "Foe" airplane in the North of where they are. Both plane crews eject and return home with the tale of an Israeli attack, except there were no Israeli planes anywhere in sight or on radar.

- An English fighter pilot instructor flies with a patrol of 5 Abu Dhabi Air Force jets to teach them to fly in formation for an airshow on national day. Over the Gulf they have Iranian planes on the radar and they all scramble in panic "towards Iran". The instructor could return 2 safely to base, the others crashed in the Gulf.

- The Saudi navy has German diesel submarines. They NEVER went diving with a Saudi crew. When they dive they fly in a full crew from Germany.

Sand in the flight control system

I have always believed the Russians got a bad rap somewhat for their weapon systems, because they let the most incompetent group of humans on the face of the Earth take their toys and have at the Israelis-- one of the most motivated and intellectual groups of people-- with Western organization and culture. If a Roman general could come forward in time, he would look at the Jews and conclude they were Romans, and the surrounding countries were made up of the basest collection of Huns, Gauls, and Celts, albeit with significant tans.

There is an excellent book called, appropriately, "Arabs At War", that makes the decisive case Arabs are culturally incompetent with technology and most particularly weapons and tactics. This is but one more example of how dangerous they are when given Western toys.

Hopefully no one was killed.

Someone should nominate them for a Darwin Award. They would win hands down. Maybe islam should be nominated for a Darwin Award, as the religion most likely to kill its own practitioners?

So exposing this would be insulting to Moslems?

The rags do not hesitate to insult Christians- they rot.

"I'm waiting to hear about Iran's own Chernobyl." From your mouth to G-d's ear. Wouldn't it be lovely to see the enemies of freedom fried at their own hands? Teheran glowing 24-7 just sounds wonderful. The people wouldn't have to remove the mullocracy, if it did it to itself. Gives me chills just to think about it.

I thought for sure this was one of Jack's jokes, as To The Point News often is, since it started out with fake info about the "340-600" being the largest plane ever (the 380 is). How funny that it truly happened.

A few months ago I read an article where Russian engineers building a nuclear reactor in Iran were ready to walk off the job if they didn't get paid. The Russians have never liked Moslems and have been at war with them for centuries. Isn't it possible that the ethnic Russians may be using Chernobyl style blueprints to build this and other reactors on the cheap?

"Arabs at War" and the case for their being culturally incompetent with technology. Yet we question "why do they want everyone to return to the stone age and a feudal system? Lets see...that would be a level playing field and our armies would be back to the manly art of chest butting while flailing at one another with swords - obviously what Allah must want and any martyr desires to deliver.

I laughed my ass off at the holes cut out of a fire suit, with sandals on. It had to be as funny as watching an Arab woman trying to eat with a Burka on her head.

I was watching one of their elementary school demonstrations. The little kids with fake AK-47's and suicide vests marching around the stage, and noticed, their piss poor sloppy formation, and flailing arms looked the exact same as the grown-ups they were imitating.

That is a very interesting thought. Chernobyl was an RMBK type reactor which was designed to efficiently produce bomb grade plutonium; the heat and electricity were byproducts. To provide greater neutron economy (and hence greater plutonium production), the RMBKs were designed with a positive temperature coefficient of reactivity - the hotter the core gets, the faster the fission reaction runs. (This was never ever done in the west.) They are very very difficult to operate - much touchier than a passenger aircraft...

I say we sell them as much modern equipment as possible. It will all turn into rust in short order.

I was told by the man who did the training of his experience in Egypt with maintenance crews. The system they had was that to get the new part you had to turn in the old, broken part. Of course, sometimes the problem was the "old part" was lost. Oops... no replacement part.

Worse still, or maybe "better yet", to start their trucks they carried a battery from truck to truck. The individual trucks did not have batteries.
